Take control of your adhesive dispensing process.

3M™ Adhesive Mix Monitor

Two-part adhesives, simplified.

The 3M™ Adhesive Mix Monitor is a proprietary technology using a disposable sensor that integrates seamlessly with your dispensing equipment to collect measurements after your adhesive is mixed but before it's dispensed onto your parts. It converts measurements into data and displays alerts on the processing unit or streams them to another device — so you get real-time feedback wherever you are. And with a simple red or green light, your operator will know whether to stop or go. It's a breakthrough way to control quality.

Adhesive dispensing you can trust.

With the 3M™ Adhesive Mix Monitor, you can gain confidence in your dispensing process like never before.

Get real-time data about mix quality, temperature, time, and error events.

Simplify your process and get to work faster by minimizing excessive quality control checks on your adhesive dispenser.

Gain visibility into your adhesive dispensing process from anywhere you are in the world.

Improve quality control and traceability by being able to tie the adhesive to the part it was dispensed on.

Know the moment an issue takes place, so you can correct it before it causes costly scrap or rework.

Rest assured that your adhesive will be mixed as you expect.
